

THE CHANLER

AT CLIFF WALK

Christine Sullivan General Manager, The Chanler at Cliff Walk

Christine Sullivan, General Manager of The Chanler at Cliff Walk in Newport, Rhode Island, is a seasoned veteran in Hospitality services. She has thrived in the travel and hospitality arena for more than two decades.

Christine, who joined The Chanler in 2007, is the leader of the team at The Chanler, including overseeing the day-to-day management of the hotel and Spiced Pear Restaurant. She has a keen eye for detail and has played an instrumental role in prestigious hotel accolades, such as, inclusion in Conde Nast Traveler's "Gold List" in 2010, as well as being voted #4 US Small Hotel in the magazine's "Readers Choice Awards" in 2009.

The Chanler at Cliff Walk was built in 1865 and owned by New York elite, Congressman John Winthrop Chanler. After receiving a two and ½ year, multi-million dollar renovation, the opulent mansion opened its doors as The Chanler in 2003. Now, the only hotel located on Newport's famous Cliff Walk, The Chanler, is known for its location, sophistication, awe-inspiring rooms, and the seaside gourmet dining of the Spiced Pear Restaurant.

Christine, a New York native, has spent over 20 years in Rhode Island, arriving to study and receive multiple degrees from Johnson & Wales University in Providence, Rhode Island. Prior to her arrival at The Chanler, Christine, a hotel industry veteran, held positions with Marriott in New York City and Newport, Rhode Island, as well as at three award-winning, historic Newport properties. She served as the Director of Room Operations at The Hotel Viking, Business Service Manager at Vanderbilt Hall, and Rooms Division Manager at Castle Hill Inn & Resorts. While at Castle Hill, Christine was a driving force behind many hotel accolades, including, Travel + Leisure's "T+ L 500" in 2005 and 2006, and helped the hotel become part of the esteemed Relais & Chateaux collection.

Christine lives with her husband in Saunderstown, Rhode Island.
